IMPORTANT NOTICE

All Orders desired by Parcel Post must be accompanied by a reasonable additional amount to cover postage. We must insist on this or send orders per Railway Express.

Owing to shortages of gas and labor we cannot make deliveries at all, unless very near home.

Many varieties of Bulbs are simply unprocurable this season, of some we have very small stocks needed for propagating purposes. In the case more especially of Tulips, supplies were never so limited and if there are varieties you will take as substitutes please so indicate when ordering.

Hardy bulbous plants can go into the ground until freezing up weather. Virtually all kinds are being received very late this year from the great growing areas and deliveries simply cannot be made as in pre-war days.

While we will do our very best to fill orders promptly, some delay cannot be avoided during the rush season. In the case of Liliiums a few kinds can be delivered as early as August while a few cannot be sent until bulbs are properly matured in early November. We must all try to exercise some patience these days.

There are certain bulbs not listed here which we may be able to supply but of which we are still uncertain as to delivery of. If there are items in the bulbous line you want and cannot locate in this or other lists, please advise us.

We will issue a price list of trees, shrubs, vines, hardy perennials bulbs and other material about March 1, 1945.

LILIUMS

Fall is much the best season for planting all varieties of Liliiums except that a few planted in early spring will do moderately well and assist in extending the flowering season. Candidum and Testaceum can be planted earlier than other varieties and the great bulk of the family are ready during October but a few varieties may not be ready until early November but planted at that time they will succeed vastly better than if deferred until spring. We have made many successful plantings after the ground has started to freeze up, occasionally in December and even January.

Certain varieties of Liliiums are very scarce at present and some are virtually unprocurable. These conditions may persist for some time after the return of peace. The flowering season of hardy Liliiums extends from late May when Tenuifolium sometimes opens, until mid-October when with an open fall we occasionally still have some late Formosanums and spring planted speciosums.

Some Liliiums will succeed in rather heavy shade, included in this list are a number of our native American varieties, others will hold their color better with moderate shade while the greater majority succeed well in full sun. A mulch of some kind during the growing season or the planting of low growing Perennials which will shade the ground will be much appreciated.

Liliiums when doing well should be left alone, too many amateurs are in the habit of digging them up annually like tulips. All Liliiums require good drainage, all dislike fresh animal manures. Bone meal is an excellent and safe plant food and virtually all like leaf mold or peat moss mixed in the soil. At planting time and especially in heavy soils, I suggest resting bulbs on sharp sand, screened charcoal or fine coal ashes.

Heavy seed production weakens Liliiums and it is well to allow plants to seed sparingly and only if you wish to secure seeds for propagating purposes. After the ground is hard frozen a winter mulch can be applied, this prevents too early starting in spring as certain varieties like regale, some have their growths and flower buds frozen when we get a burst of premature heat followed by frosts as in 1944.

LIST OF LILIUMS

Amabile. Flowers in late June, height 18-34 inches. Flower colors red with black spots35 each, $3.50 doz.

Amabile Luteum. A distinct and interesting yellow form, not common
$1.00 each, $10.00 doz.

Auratum. Better known as the "Gold banded Lily". We are fortunate in being able to offer a moderate number of good flowering sized bulbs, all are from seeds and raised in North America $1.00 - $1.50 each, $10.00 - $16.50 doz.

Aurelianense. This grand August flowering lily was raised by a noted French hybridist between Henryi and Sargentiae. A few flowers are recurving but the bulk are trumpet or have trumpet shaded and large varying in color from soft orange through yellow to ivory white. Vigorous in constitution like Henryi and a really grand addition to Lilies. We have two sizes of these, one being an extra choice selection of the very finest forms.

$1.00 - $2.00 each, $10.00 - $22.50 doz.

Good selection all blooming sized bulbs

$5.00 - $7.50 doz.

Backhouse Hybrids. We can supply limited numbers of bulbs of these splendid and vigorous growing hybrids raised by the late Mrs. R. O. Backhouse in England, also the raiser of many notable varieties of Narcissi. They are vigorous in habit and carry long spikes of martagon like flowers.

Brocade. Orange yellow pink marbling and dark spots $3.00 each

Mrs. R. O. Backhouse. A superb and husky growing variety. Color with gold suffusion and flushed reddish purple $2.50 each

Sceptre. Vigorous and extra large flowers, color rose pink over ivory. $3.50 each

Sutton Court. Rather similar to Mrs. R. O. Backhouse. Pale canary yellow $5.00 each

Brenda Watts. One of Miss Prestons hybrids from Ottawa. Soft orange red recurving outward facing flowers of large size, vigorous $1.50 each Callosum. Carries red martagon like small red blooms in late August .30 each, $3.00 doz.

Browni. A late flowering form from seeds of the variety Colchesteri blooming in August. The large white trumpet shaped flowers are stained purplish without, a vigorous grower $2.50 each Canadense. A beautiful and graceful American lily, stands considerable shade. Color varies from soft yellow to red25 each, $2.50 doz.

Extra large bulbs50 each, $5.00 doz.

Canadense Flavum. Yellow shades spotted25 each, $2.50 doz.

Canadense Rubrum. Comes in pleasing reddish shades30 each, $3.00 doz.

Canadense Luteum. We have limited numbers of this lovely unspotted yellow form75 each, $7.50 doz.

Candidum. This is the immensely popular and immaculate Madonna Lily bulbs are quite scarce this year, the dust dry winter causing great numbers to succumb50, .75, $1.00 each, $7.50, $10.00 doz.

Candidum var Salonikae. Blooms earlier than the type, bulbs average smaller size but carry many more blooms to a stalk. More disease proof. In three sizes same price as for the type.

Centifolium. A magnificent trumpet lily with much larger flowers than regale and blooming a little later. Rare until the last three years, now much more moderately priced.

$1.00 - $2.00 each, $10.00 - $22.50 doz.

Cernuum. A graceful small flowered lily from Korea, a June bloomer recurving pink to lilac flowers, very pretty, far from common60 each Concolor. Another charming Korean variety, flowers are rich red and face upwards on graceful stems, blooms in late June $.35 each, $3.50 doz.

Creelmanni (Geo. C. Creelman). A truly superb lily being a glorified form of Princeps with massive white trumpets well spread apart. On the exterior is reddish purple $1.00, $2.50 each Crows Hybrids. A grand race of large trumpet hybrids from Canada, larger flowers than regale and far more vigorous in habit, flowering later. .75 - $1.00 each, $7.50 - $10.00 doz.

Dauricum Pardinum. An extremely vigorous August blooming lily carrying large broad heads of soft orange flowers which are heavily spotted. We have had stalks 6 feet high carrying 30 flowers each50 each, $5.00 doz.

Dauricum Wilsoni. This is a dwarf form blooming earlier than Pardinum with large soft orange flowers spotted brown50 each Davidi Macranthum. A superior form of Davidi with larger flowers than type, of graceful habit with large rich recurving red flowers in mid July. $.60 each, $6.00 doz.

Elegans (Thunbergianum) Atrosanguineum. Rather dwarf in habit, crimson spotted flowers60 each, $6.00 doz.

Elegans Mahony (Mahogany). Of dwarf habit, very dark crimson and striking. .60 each, $6.00 doz.

Elegans Leonard Joerg. An attractive orange yellow quite dwarf40 each, $4.00 doz.

Elegans. Fine mixture of various colors .39 each, $3.00 doz.

Fire King. One of the best of Mr. Stokes hybrids rich red and carried in great numbers on the stems. Instead of drooping, stand out facing you. An outstandingly fine hybrid the best of its type to date $2.50 - $3.50 each Formosanum Pricei. This is the early flowering form of Formosanum blooming in late July, dwarf habit, usually not over 2 feet with long rather constricted white trumpet shaped flowers. .50 each, $5.00 doz.

Formesatum Wilsons Var. Late blooming running from late August into October while usually only 3 to 5 feet high. I have seen superb stalks 8 - 10 feet in New England. The white trumpet flowers are much larger than those of regale. The outside of the trumpets are brownish30 each, $3.00 doz.

Extra large, .50 each, $5.50 doz.

Formosatum Giant Pure White. A pure white form of the late flowering form much prized commercially, for cutting under glass by many50 each, $5.00 doz.

Giganteum Himalaicum. This Indian lily is the real giant of the family, succeeds best in semi-open glades in woodlands. The big bulbs must be planted very shallow. The great heads of immense trumpet shaped flowers which are semipendant white throat splashed pink are produced in early July. Bulbs very scarce at present. $3.00 - $4.00 each Grayi. A very graceful and lovely native lily with reddish tubular shaped flowers, blooms in July, likes some shade and a rather moist location .50 each, $5.00 doz.

Green Mountain Hybrids. These include a fine selection of crosses of the various trumpet shaped lilies like regale, Centifolium, Creelmanni and others and nearly all have larger flowers than regale and bloom later.
.75 - $1.50 each, $7.50 - $15.00 doz.

Hansoni. Easily one of our best and most popular lilies flowering in June with a little shade, the rich yellow martagon shaped flowers which have brownish splashes will hold their color better .. .50, .75, $1.00 each, $5.00, $7.50, $10.00 doz,

Henryi. Rich recurving yellow flowers carried in great abundance with shiny foliage and possessed of great vigor. This is a top notcher amongst lilies. Sometimes called the "orange yellow speciosum with a grand constitution. Flowers from late July until September50, .75, $1.00 each, $5.00, $7.50, $10.00 doz,

Longiflorum (Croft Lily). A very fine variety of the Easter Lily developed in Oregon. While greatly prized a forcing variety it has proved hardy with me. Planted 8-10 inches deep in early November. Large flowering bulbs $1.00 - $1.50 each Longiflorum (Estate Lily). A really super variety also from the Pacific Coast which has grand trumpets of great texture and extra large, have grown this outdoors in New England for several years, blooms at same time as regale. Large flowering bulbs.

$1.00, $1.50 each, $10.00, $15.00 doz.

Note—The longiflorum varieties must not be planted too early as they start into growth more quickly than other lilies and are liable to be through the ground before winter starts if we get a warm fall.

Martagon. Very few bulbs of any of the forms of this popular lily are available this season, we have none to offer.

Maxwill. A really first class hybrid lily of vigorous habit with numerous large recurving orange red flowers on robust pyramidal spikes75 - $1.00 each Maximowiczii.

This is a pleasing August flowering lily which suggests tigrinum but for its greater grace60 each, $6.00 doz.

Monadelphum Szovitzianum (Miss Willmotts variety). An extra fine form of this lovely early flowering golden yellow Russian lily developed in the gardens of Miss Ellen Willmott in England. Supply very limited. $2.00 each Pardalinum. A dependable easily grown Pacific Coast lily, brilliant orange recurving flowers35 each, $4.00 doz.

Pardalinum Giganteum. A much glorified form with greater vigor and larger and more brilliant flowers. Plant 10-12 inches deep50 each, $5.00 doz.

Philadelphicum. A lovely native lily blooming in early July with rich orange red flowers facing upwards.25, .50 each, $2.50, $5.00 doz,

The large selected bulbs of this lily will flower much the best.

Phildauricum Hybrids. These are excellent very early flowering hybrids raised by Mr. F. L. Skinner in Manitoba. They are vigorous habited and bloom with great profusion showing a wide range of types resulting from crossing Philadelphicum and Dauricum75 each

Pride of Charlotte. A first class hybrid from Vermont. A cross between regale and Sargentiae, very tough and hardy. $1.00 - $2.00 each

Princeps. An accidental cross between regale and Sargentiae produced this excellent hybrid which flowers later than regale and with larger flowers .75 - $1.00 each

Regale. By far the most largely planted and popular lilies in America, its introduction revolutionized lily culture in all countries where lilies are grown. .25, .50, .75, $1.00 each, $4.00, $6.00, $7.50, $10.00 doz.

Regale Hybrids. An extra fine lot of crosses which will give some fine forms .60, .75 each, $6.00, $8.00 doz.

Sargentiae. An excellent August blooming white and fragrant trumpet lily has been much used in making crosses on regale. Bulbs rather scarce $1.50 each Shuksan. Undoubtedly the finest of the Bellingham hybrids raised by the late lamented Dr. David Griffiths. The sturdy stems carry heads of rich yellow flowers spotted rich brown. This is the most sturdy of the hybrids raised at Bellingham75, $1.00 each, $8.00 $10.00 doz.

Speciosum Rubrum. We are glad to be able to offer good flowering bulbs of this splendid lily again. It is the most dependable of the hardy lilies formerly imported from the Orient but some good American grown stock is at last available for delivery this fall.

$1.00, $1.25, $1.50 each

We are unable to offer other forms of speciosum this season.

Shelburne Hybrid. Raised on the Webb estate, Shelburne, Vermont, this is a grand and very sturdy large trumpet lily flowering 10 days later than regale with much larger and more imposing flowers75, $1.00 each, $8.00, $10.00 doz.

Superbum. A grand and stately native lily of great vigor sometimes attaining the height of 10 or more feet, succeeds wonderfully in beds of broad leaved evergreens where a mulch of leaves or peat moss is maintained. Likes rather moist conditions.

.30 each, $3.00 doz. — Extra large, .50 each, $5.00 doz.

T. A. Havemeyer. We regret that all of our rather limited stock of this grand hybrid has been sold for this season.

Sutchuenense. An unspotted form of Willmottiae sometimes going under the name of Willmottiae unicolor. July bloomer, an extra fine variety.

.75 each, $8.00 doz.

Tenuifolium (Pumilum). The Siberian Coral Lily is the first variety to bloom sometimes in late May with graceful heads of coral red flowers.

.25, .40 each, $2.50, $4.00 doz.

Tenuifolium Golden Gleam. A rich orange yellow form35 each, $4.00 doz.

Tenuifolium Red Star. Has sturdier stems and much larger bright red flowers than the type blooming later in May, possesses some amabile blood.

.35 each, $3.50 doz.

Testaceum. A cross between candidum and chalcedonicum this is easily one of the most exquisite lilies in existence and is a natural hybrid. The recurving flowers are pendulous and circle the top of the flower stalk forming an alluring picture. The color is nankeen yellow. Cover bulbs only 4 inches, likes a sweet soil. Plant bulbs early in the season $1.25, $1.50 each, $13.50, $16.50 doz.

Tigrinum. This is the old Tiger Lily and is seen growing wild along many New England roadsides and about many old homes. Always free from disease. A grand variety to naturalise as it increases fast by bulbils30 each, $3.00 doz.

Tigrinum Splendens. A glorified form from the Orient. Larger and softer orange colored flowers than type A fine garden lily25 each, $2.50 doz.

- Tigrinum Flore-Pleno. Double flowered lilies are especially pleasing but this is an exception and well worthy of garden culture35 each, $4.00 doz.
- Tsingtauense. Whorls or rich green leaves circle the stems, flowers face upwards as in concolor, glossy red flowers in July $1.25 each
- Umbellatum. A fine race of early flowering lilies which have flowers facing upwards with much greater vigor than elegans. They come in a wide range of colors. All are good garden plants. Fine mixture30 each, $3.00 doz.
- Umbellatum Biligulatum. Distinct form with orange red flowers35 each, $4.00 doz.
- Umbellatum Feu Brilliant. Carries extra large brilliant flowers35 each, $4.00 doz.
- Umbellatum Prince of Wales. Fine yellow form $1.25 each
- Umbellatum Splendidum. A husky grower with immense flower heads60 each
- Umbellatum Moonlight. A vigorous growing pure yellow raised by Mr. Louis Vasseur, Milton, Mass., and awarded a first class certificate by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society in 1943 $1.75 each
- Umbellatum W. N. Craig. Also raised by Mr. Vasseur and also awarded a first class certificate in Boston in 1943. Large light orange yellow unspotted flowers, height 24-30 inches $2.50 each
- Wardii. This lovely Thibetan lily has often been referred to as the "pink Martagon lily" discovered by Kingdom Ward. The recurving rose pink flowers are rose pink in color, spotted purple and stems are rather slender and graceful. Has a habit of wandering by means of underground stems. Flowers during August and September. Supply limited $2.50 each
- Willmottiae. Another of China's glorious lilies. Rich orange red recurving flowers are gracefully carried on a sturdy pyramidal spike, flowers in mid July40, .60, .75 each, $4.00, 6.00, $8.00 doz,

We have limited numbers of a few other varieties not listed here. We are glad to send collections of 12 varieties Hardy Liliums, our selection for $4.00. A choicer selection of 12 varieties for $6.00.

LILIUM SEEDS

NARCISSUS

The supplies of Narcissi this season are below normal and due to excessive winter and early spring droughts in the leading growing areas bulbs are smaller than usual and some varieties are in very limited supply. However while many of our popular spring flowering bulbs are in very light supply and some not to be had at all the offerings of Narcissi are better than could be expected considering adverse weather, lack of labor and other conditions. Owing to freight priorities bulbs will be rather late in arriving this season.

TULIPS

These important colorful spring flowering bulbs are this year a great problem. Last year our main source of supply was Great Britain. Since the present World War started the flower loving British people have been banned from buying bulbs but this year the ban was lifted and as a result few are available for export, and owing to war necessities merchant vessels have for several months unloaded war cargoes in Great Britain and bassalted with sand, refusing all cargoes ordered and desired here in order to facilitate the return cargoes for more war goods. Cultures in America are rather light and weather and lack of labor have both been adverse factors, as a result tulips available are rather few in numbers and variety and at present there are no certainties of what varieties will be available. We are listing such varieties as we hope to have and we cannot guarantee to supply more than a small number of most of these.

Prices have advanced very much and after the war ends it seems rather doubtful if we will see any great decline in prices as stocks in the Netherlands are also greatly depleted. We are only quoting dozen prices of tulips but can supply several varieties in 100 lots.
